

Goodbye Again
John Denver

Key of G

Intro: Chords for last 2 lines of chorus

v1:

G D Em C G
It's five o' clock this morning and the sun is on the rise
D Em Am D
There's frost on the window pane and sorrow in your eyes
G D Em C G
The stars are fading quietly, night is nearly gone
D Em Am D
And so you turn away from me and tears begin to come...

chorus:

Am D G D Em
It's goodbye again, I'm sorry to be leavin' you
Am D G D Em
Goodbye again, 'cause if you didn't know
Am D G D Em
It's goodbye again, and I wish you could tell me
Am D
Why do we always fight when I have to go?

v2:

G D Em C G
It seems a shame to leave you now, you lay so soft and warm
D Em Am D
I long to lay me down again and hold you in my arms
G D Em C G
I long to kiss the tears away, give you back your smile
D Em Am D
But other voices beakon me and for a little while... --CHORUS bridge:

Bm C G Em
I have to go and see some friends of mine and some that I don't know
Am D G
And some who aren't familiar with my name
Bm C G Em
It's something that's inside of me, not hard to understand
Am D
It's anyone who'll listen to me sing...

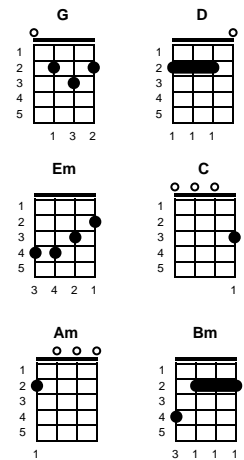

v3:

G D Em C G
If your hours are empty now, who am I to blame?
D Em Am D
You think if I were always here, our love would be the same?
G D Em C G
As it is the time we have, is worth the time alone
D Em Am D
Lying by your side's the greatest peace I've ever known... --CHORUS ending:

Am D
Why do we always fight when I have to go?
