The Big Bang Theory (Ed Robertson / Steven Jay Page)

C D G D Em
 Our whole universe was in a hot dense state,

 Then nearly fourteen billion years ago

 Expansion started. Wait...

 The bipeds stood up straight,

 The oceans and Pangea

Spiderman Theme Song (Bob Harris / Paul Francis Webster)

Am
Spiderman, Spiderman, does whatever a spider can
Dm Am
Spins a web any size, catches thieves just like flies
E7 Am
Look out, here comes the Spiderman

Am
Is he strong? Listen, bud, he's got radioactive blood
Dm Am
Can he swing from a thread? Take a look overhead
E7 Am
Hey, there! There goes the Spiderman

G7 C E7 Am
In the chill of the night, at the scene of a crime
G7 C Dm E7
Like a streak of light he arrives just in time

Kazoo verse:

Am
Spiderman, Spiderman, friendly neighborhood, Spiderman
Dm Am
Wealth and fame, he ignores, action is his reward
E7 Am
Look out, here comes the Spiderman

Am
Spiderman, Spiderman, friendly neighborhood, Spiderman
Dm Am
Wealth and fame, he ignores, action is his reward
E7 Am E7 Am

Based on a real-life cowboy, sheriff, US Marshall, attorney, and district attorney, Disney ran the 10-part serial from 1958-1960. In 1966, a compilation of episodes was released as a film 'Elfego Baca: Six Gun Law.' He was known as 'The Man Who Couldn't Be Killed' after surviving 'The Frisco Shootout' in which over 4,000 rounds were fired.

One often-told story says that when he was practicing law in Albuquerque, Baca received a telegram from a client in El Paso, Texas. "Need you at once," it said. "Have just been charged with murder," to which Baca is supposed to have responded: "Leaving at once with three eyewitnesses."

John Horton Slaughter (1841-1922) was a cattleman, Texas Ranger, and sheriff, and among his other pursuits, he was a prominent poker player. One writer called him "the meanest good guy who ever lived."

In real life, John Slaughter's foreman was killed when the foreman's horse was shot and fell on him. The shooter was Sheriff Elfego Baca, who was charged with murdering the foreman. He was acquitted.

D7 G

When Casey takes the throttle for another run. Chorus

John Luther "Casey" Jones (March 14, 1863 – April 30, 1900) was an engineer for the Illinois Central Railroad who was killed when his passenger train collided with a stalled freight train at Vaughan, Mississippi. He was driving the powerful Engine No. 382, known as "Cannonball", on passenger service between Memphis and Canton, MS, one link of a four-train, high-speed run between Chicago and New Orleans.

When the lights on the caboose of the stalled freight train were spotted, Jones ordered his fireman to jump, then reversed the throttle and slammed the air brakes into emergency stop, but the engine plowed through several loaded freight cars before derailing. He had been able to reduce his speed from 75 miles per hour to about 40 miles per hour before the impact. His exceptional skill at slowing the engine saved the lives of his passengers at the cost of his own. Casey Jones, Wikipedia.

The song "The City of New Orleans" was also about the Illinois Central's Chicago to New Orleans service.
